22. Insists on the absolute necessity of stepping up the expedient and effective exchange of relevant information between the law enforcement authorities in the Member States and between Member states and the relevant agencies, subject to the appropriate data protection and privacy safeguards, particularly by optimising the use of and contributions to the Schengen Information System and VIS, Europol's secure information exchange network application (SIENA), Europol's 'Focal Point Travellers' on European citizens who have been radicalised by terrorism; stresses that stepping up the exchange of information between law enforcement authorities will entail increasing trust between Member States and also reinforcing the role and the effective resourcing of European Union agencies, such as Europol and Eurojust and Cepol, and the establishment of the European Public Prosecutor’s office as a matter of priority;

COMPROMISE AF ON PARAGRAPH 23

23. Stresses that improved cooperation between the Member States aimed at countering the radicalisation and recruitment of European citizens is also characterised by intensive exchanges and cooperation between the judicial authorities and with Eurojust; Notes that better reporting at European level on the criminal records of terrorist suspects, radicalised individuals—would help speed up their detection and make it easier for them to be properly monitored, either when they leave or when they return to the EU; encourages, therefore, the reform and better use of the ECRIS system; urges the Commission to assess the concerns, feasibility and added value of establishing EPRIS; underlines that international treaties and the EU law, as well as that—fundamental rights, and in particular the protection of personal data, as well EU law and international treaties, must be respected when exchanging such information;

24. Believes that measures aimed at preventing the radicalisation of European citizens and their recruitment by terrorist organisations will not be fully effective until they are accompanied by harmonised uniformed, effective and dissuasive and articulated range of criminal justice measures in all Member States; considers that, through effectively criminalising terrorist acts and other criminal actions carried out abroad with terrorist organisations, the Member States would equip themselves with the tools needed to eliminate terrorist radicalisation among European citizens, while making full use of the existing EU police and judicial cooperation tools in criminal matters; Considers that law enforcement and justice authorities (judges and prosecutors) should have sufficient capacity to prevent, detect and prosecute those acts and should be adequately and continuously trained on terrorism-related crimes;

25. Notes that prosecuting terrorist acts carried out in third countries by European citizens or non EU nationals residing in the EU requires the collection of evidence in third countries to be possible in full compliance with human fundamental rights; calls, therefore on the European Union to work on the set-up of judicial and law enforcement cooperation agreements with third countries to facilitate the collection of evidence in said countries provided that strict legal standards and procedures, rule of law, international law and Fundamental Rights are safeguarded by all parts;

- COMPROMISE AI ON PARAGRAPH 25a new
25 a. (new) Encourages, therefore, the establishment of cooperation agreements between Eurojust with third countries, as those already established with the USA, Norway and Switzerland, stressing, nevertheless, the need to ensure full compliance with international human rights law, EU data protection and privacy rules; points out that priority to establish these agreements should be given to countries that are also particularly hit by terrorism, such as MENA countries; additionally, is of the view that the deployment of Eurojust liaison prosecutors in the relevant countries, namely in the southern neighbourhood, would foster more exchange of information and enable better cooperation to effectively fight terrorism, while respecting human rights;

28. Reiterates that making good use of existing instruments such as the SIS, SIS II and VIS systems, Interpol's SLTD system, and Europol's Focal Point TRAVELLERS constitutes the first step in stepping up external border security in order to identify EU citizens and foreigners residing in the EU who may be leaving or returning from a conflict area for the purpose of committing terrorist acts, receive terrorist training or take part in non-conventional armed conflict on behalf of terrorist organisations; these existing instruments should also be used set up a list, based on a set of criteria, in order to prevent hate preachers and extremist recruiters from entering the European Union; urges Member States to improve cooperation and sharing of information regarding suspected “foreign fighters” with Member States at the external EU borders;

29. Stresses the vital importance of the European Union establishing close cooperation with third countries, notably transit countries and destination countries, insofar as this is possible, in order to be able to identify EU citizens and non-european residents leaving to fight for terrorist organisations or returning thereafter; Also stresses the need to strengthen political dialogue and shared action plans to combat radicalisation and terrorism, in the context of bilateral relations and with regional organisations such as the African Union and the League of Arab States;

- COMPROMISE AO ON PARAGRAPH 30

Amendment 574 Barbara Spinelli, Kostas Chrysogonos; Amendment 575 Ana Gomes, Christine Revault D'Allonnes Bonnefoy, Rachida Dati; Amendment 576 Sophia in 't Veld; Amendment 577 Petras Aušreliūnas; Amendment 578 Goffredo Maria Bettini, Caterina Chinnici; Amendment 580 Jean Lambert; Amendment 581 Maite Pagazaurtundúa Ruiz, Petr Ježek, Gérard Deprez, Louis Michel;

30. Is convinced that for such enhanced cooperation to be established the Commission, and the European External Action Service (EEAS) in particular, need to make greater efforts in terms of increasing and improving expertise in the matters of fighting terrorism, non-conventional armed conflict and radicalisation, reinforce and diversify the current level of language skills, such as Arabic, Urdu, Russian and Mandarin, which is seriously lacking among European information and intelligence services; considers it essential that the EU's call to combat terrorism, radicalisation and violence can be heard beyond its own borders through strategic communication that is both incisive and effective;

- COMPROMISE AP ON PARAGRAPH 31

Amendment 583 Barbara Spinelli; Amendment 584 Christine Revault D'Allonnes Bonnefoy; Amendment 585 Liisa Jaakonsaari; Amendment 586 Sophia in 't Veld; Amendment 587 Maite Pagazaurtundúa Ruiz; Amendment 588 Kati Piri; Amendment 590 Goffredo Maria Bettini, Caterina Chinnici; Amendment 591 Ana Gomes, Caterina Chinnici;

- COMPROMISE AQ ON TITLE IX

Amendment 596 Sophia in 't Veld; Amendment 597 Barbara Spinelli; Amendment 598 Maite Pagazaurtundúa Ruiz

IX. Promoting the exchange of good practices on de-radicalisation

- COMPROMISE AR ON PARAGRAPH 32
32. States that a comprehensive policy to preventing the radicalisation and recruitment of EU citizens by terrorist organisations can only be successfully put in place if accompanied by a proactive de-radicalisation and inclusion policies; calls on the European Union therefore to facilitate the sharing by Member States and with third countries which have already acquired experience and achieved positive results in this area of good practices on the setting-up of deradicalisation structures to prevent EU citizens and non-EU nationals legally residing in the EU to leave the EU or to control their return thereto; recalls the need to offer support to the family of such individuals as well;

• COMPROMISE AS ON PARAGRAPH 33

33. Suggests that Member States examine the idea of including mentors or counselling assistants in the process to deradicalise EU citizens who have returned from conflict areas disillusioned by what they have experienced thereto, to help support them in their reintegration into society through appropriate programmes; underlines the necessity for a better best-practice exchange among member states to that respect; and stresses these mentors should be willing to contribute to specific programmes through appropriate training;

• COMPROMISE AT ON PARAGRAPH 34

34. Calls for an EU level structured communication campaign to be launched, making use of the cases of former European ‘foreign fighters’ who have successfully undergone deradicalisation and whose traumatic experiences help expose the deeply perverse and fallacious religious dimension of joining terrorist organisations such as ISIS; encourages Member States therefore to develop platforms enabling face-to-face meetings and dialogue with former fighters; emphasises furthermore that contact with victims of terrorism also seems to be an effective means of stripping radical rhetoric of its religious or ideological significance; Suggests that this campaign is used as a tool to assist in the deradicalisation process in prisons, schools and in all establishments focusing on prevention and rehabilitation; Further calls on the Commission to support, particularly through funding, and to coordinate such national communication campaigns;

- COMPROMISE A U ON TITLE X

Amendment 631 Sophia in 't Veld; Amendment 632 Ana Gomes, Jean Lambert, Barbara Spinelli, Birgit Sippel; Amendment 633 Barbara Spinelli, Kostas Chrysogonos

35. Supports measures to weaken terrorist organisations from the inside and lessen their current influence on EU citizens and non-EU nationals legally residing in the EU; urges the European commission and the competent agencies to look into ways of dismantling terrorist networks and identifying how they are funded; to this end, calls for better cooperation between the Financial Intelligence Units of the Member States and the quick transposition and implementation of the Anti-Money Laundering Package; encourages the Commission to propose a regulation on identifying and blocking terrorism funding channels and countering the ways in which they are funded; thus calls on the Commission to re-evaluate the creation of a common European terrorist finance tracking system; encourages Member States to implement the highest standards of transparency concerning access to information on beneficial owners of all corporate structures in the EU and in opaque jurisdictions, which can be vehicles to finance terrorist organisations;

- COMPROMISE A W ON PARAGRAPH 36

Amendment 649 (Ana Gomes), Amendment 650 (Christine Revault D'Allonnes Bonnefoy), Amendment 651 (Kinga Gál), Amendment 652 (Sophia in 't Veld), Amendment 653 (Jean Lambert), Amendment 654 (Barbara Spinelli), Amendment 655 (Maite Pagazaurtundúa Ruiz), Amendment 657 (Tanja Fajon)

36. Calls on Member States to participate in efforts to trace external flows of funding and to ensure and to display transparency in their relations with certain Gulf countries, with the aim of stepping up cooperation in order to shine a light on the financing of terrorism and fundamentalism in Africa and the Middle East, but also by some organisations in Europe; Member States should not hesitate to use restrictive measures against individuals and organizations where there is credible evidence of financing or other complicity with terrorism;

- COMPROMISE A X ON PARAGRAPH 37

Amendment 661 (Mariya Gabriel)
37. Instructs its President to forward this resolution to the Council, the Commission, the governments and parliaments of the Member States and the candidate countries, the United Nations, the Council of Europe, the African Union, the member states of the Union for the Mediterranean, the League of Arab States and the Organisation for Security and Cooperation in Europe.

- COMPROMISE AY ON RECITAL A

  Amendment 19, Amendment 20

  A. whereas more than 5000 European citizens have joined terrorist organisations and other military formations, particularly ISIS (Da'esh), Jahbat al-Nusra and others outside the European Union, especially in the MENA region; whereas this phenomenon is speeding up and taking on significant proportions;

- COMPROMISE AZ ON RECITAL B

  Amendment 31, Amendment 32, Amendment 34, Amendment 35, Amendment 36

  B. whereas the recent terrorist attacks in France, Belgium, Tunisia and Copenhagen highlight the security threat which is posed by the presence and movement of these ‘foreign’ fighters in Europe who are often EU nationals; and in the neighbourhood; whereas the European Union has condemned these attacks in the strongest terms and has committed itself to combat terrorism alongside the Member States, inside and outside EU territory;

- COMPROMISE BA ON RECITAL C

  Amendment 50, Amendment 52, Amendement 53, Amendment 54, Amendment 56

  C. whereas combating terrorism and preventing the radicalisation and recruitment of European citizens by terrorist organisations still falls essentially within the sphere of competence of the Member States, but whereas European cooperation is essential for the efficient and effective exchange of information between law enforcement agencies in order to combat the cross border nature and threat posed by terrorists and a concerted European approach is thus necessary and will provide added value to co-ordinate or harmonise where appropriate the legislation that applies in an area where European citizens are free to move and to make prevention and counterterrorism effective; whereas combating trafficking in firearms should be a priority for the EU in fighting serious and organised international crime;

- COMPROMISE BB ON RECITAL D

  Amendment 61, Amendment 63, Amendment 64, Amendment 66
D. whereas a number of instruments already exist in Europe to address the radicalisation of European citizens and whereas the European Union and its Member States should make full use of these tools and look to enhancing them in order to reflect the current challenges the EU and Member States face; whereas there remains a perverse reluctance on the part of Member States to cooperate in sensitive areas, such as information and intelligence sharing; whereas, given the increasing significance of terrorist radicalisation, which is in total contradiction with European values, new means must be implemented, and this must take place in compliance with the Charter of Fundamental Rights;

- COMPROMISE BC ON RECITAL E

Amendment 68-76

E. whereas the extent to which the Member States assume responsibility to counteract the risk of radicalisation and the prevention of recruitment by terrorist organisations can vary greatly from one Member State to another; whereas, while some Member States have already taken effective measures, others are lagging behind in their action to tackle this phenomenon;

- COMPROMISE BD ON RECITAL F

Amendments 77-86

F. whereas concerted European action is required as a matter of urgency to prevent the radicalisation and recruitment of European citizens by terrorist organisations in order to contain this growing phenomenon so as to stem the flow of departures by European citizens to conflict zones, de-radicalise the home-stayers, and prevent other terrorist acts from being committed on European soil;

- COMPROMISE BE ON RECITAL G

Amendments 89-96, 99

G. whereas the important thing now is to put greater emphasis on and invest in preventive rather than reactive measures to address the radicalisation of European citizens and their recruitment by terrorist organisations; whereas a strategy to counter extremism, radicalisation and terrorist recruitment within the EU can only work if it is developed in parallel to a strategy of integration and social inclusion and of re-integration and de-radicalisation of so-called "foreign fighters" returnees;

- COMPROMISE BF ON RECITAL H

Amendments 101-106

H. whereas it is essential that fundamental rights and civil liberties be respected in all measures undertaken by the Member States and the European Union, namely the right to private life, the right to security, the right to data protection, presumption of innocence, the right to a fair trial and due process, freedom of expression and freedom of religion; whereas the security of European citizens must preserve their rights and liberties; whereas, indeed, these two principles are two sides of the same coin;
